County businesses, unions and councillors give their reaction to Chancellor George Osbourne's emergency budget. . .

No return to 'dark days'

RESIDENTS have successfully lobbied Northamptonshire Police for an order to move on youths from across town who are flocking to their neighbourhood to beg or intimidate people.

Youths gathering in the Spring Boroughs area, particularly near The Shoemakers' Tavern and a nearby store, are making some older people scared to do their shopping.

It is believed many of the youths have come from Eastfields where another dispersal order moved them on.

Joe Joyce, of the Spring Boroughs Residents' Association, said: "They gather in large groups and get a bit lairy."

"Someone like me can push past them but, for elderly people, they can be intimidating. And, because they're not from here, they don't have respect for the area and its people."

Complaints to police, backed up by the local residents' association, have now resulted in increased powers for officers and PCSOs to move on anyone they think is taking part in anti-social behaviour.

The six-month dispersal order came into force today and takes in 29 streets in an area bordered by Grafton Street, Broad Street, Horse Market, Black Lion Hill and St Andrews Road.

Work has been carried out to tidy up Spring Boroughs (above); the area (bordered in orange) affected by the dispersal scheme (right)

Police said they wanted the order to "improve the quality of life of residents" who had been subjected to verbal abuse and begging for money and the affects of alcohol.

Anyone who refuses to move on – or who returns to the area within 24 hours of being moved on – faces arrest. Youths persistently causing a nuisance will be referred to the anti-social behaviour unit.

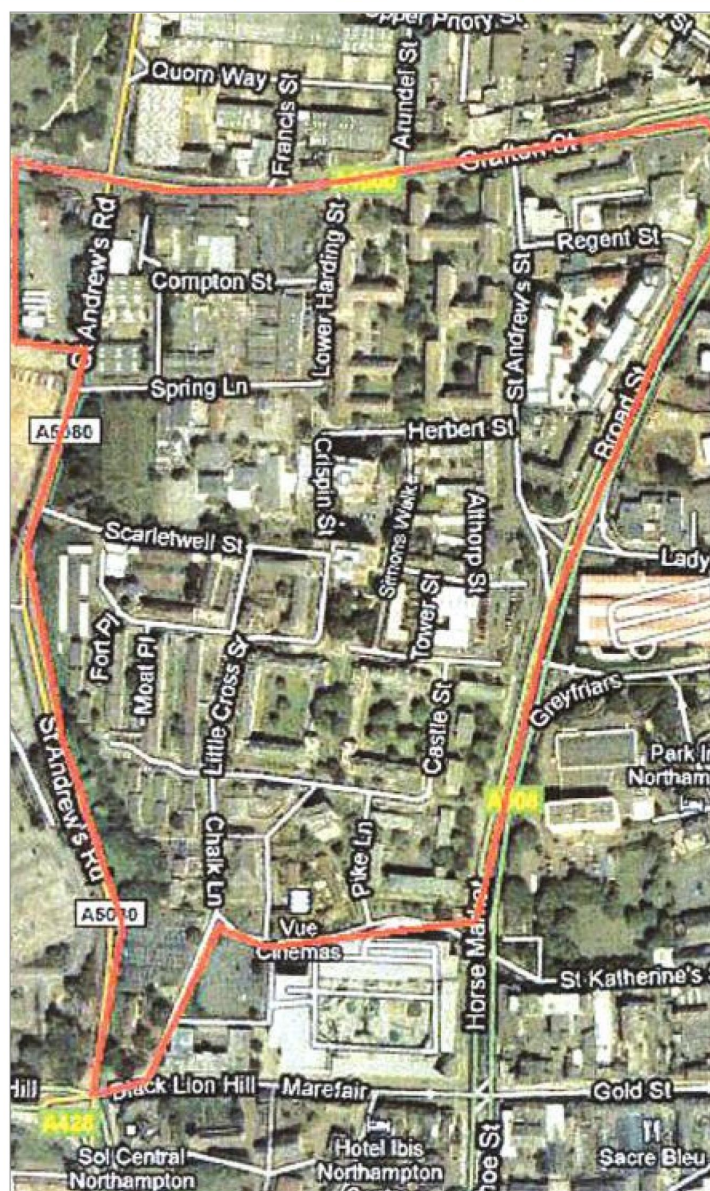

Problems with drug dens and prostitution were rife in Spring

Boroughs in recent years before the CASPAR community project improved the area.

Residents and councillors praised the new police measure to prevent a slide back to those dark days.

Councillor Tony Clarke, (Ind, Castle) said: "I would say to these youths: 'Don't think you can spoil our peace in Spring Boroughs.'"

"We have fought long and hard for it and we are not prepared to return to the problems of the past."

Cameras 'not cash cows'

THE aim of Northampton's speed cameras is not to generate money, a police and council partnership has insisted, as the government declares it will no longer use the controversial equipment as 'cash cows'.

The new coalition government has announced it will not fund any new speed cameras.

However the Casualty Reduction Partnership is yet to make a decision regarding cutting back the county's 40 fixed speed cameras.

Brian Ronaghan, casualty reduction partnership manager for Northamptonshire Police, said: "Ensuring cameras are placed where they are most effective at reducing road casualties is the goal, not to make money. Northamptonshire was a pilot area for cameras in 2000 and their introduction significantly increased the number of speeding offences detected.

"The number of fines peaked in 2002/03 and since then has progressively decreased. This reflects the awareness of safety cameras and a general reduction in speeding."

Northamptonshire currently has 40 fixed camera site locations, two average speed camera sites and six red light camera sites.

Mr Ronaghan added: "Since 2004, no new fixed site cameras have been installed, however the sites for mobile camera van enforcement are constantly evolving. April 2007 saw a fundamental change to safety camera funding. Previously, speeding fines funded safety camera operations. Since April 2007, a grant has been awarded to partnerships to invest in road safety, instead of being funded by fines. Any fines collected since that point go to the treasury and are not linked to the partnership funding. The new government is reviewing these funding arrangements.

"With the introduction of speed workshops as a diversion away from prosecution, more people in Northamptonshire are now being offered education as an alternative to receiving a fine and penalty points. Any surplus from the £60 course fee goes to the Casualty Reduction Fund.

"The outcome is that Northamptonshire's roads are now safer - 2009 brought both the lowest recorded number of road deaths and the lowest number of people seriously injured on our roads."

40TH BIRTHDAY
CODORNIU

Heaven scent

A SIX year-old girl is one of the first people in the country to have a life-saving dog, specially trained to sense changes in her diabetes.

Rebecca Farrar, a pupil at Harpole Primary School, used to collapse three of four times a week before becoming one of only eight people in England to have a hypo-alert dog.

The keen swimmer was diagnosed with type one diabetes two years ago and is unable to feel any change in her sugar levels.

Each day she must inject herself four times with insulin and carry out up to seven sugar-level tests to avoid falling into a coma.

But since the arrival of three year-old Shirley, a yellow Labrador-golden retriever cross, Rebecca has been spared the fear of collapsing.

Shirley is a hypo-alert dog trained to sense the change in odour when Rebecca's sugar levels drop or increase, warning the little girl by licking her hands, sitting on her lap and even dragging a sugar-level testing kit to her side.

Rebecca's mother, Claire, aged 39, from Harpole, said:

"Diabetes took over Rebecca's life. She has to constantly check her levels and have four injections a day.

"She would regularly collapse and be taken to hospital, sometimes four times a week.

"But since Shirley arrived she has had her confidence back and it has been a massive relief to us.

"Apart from school, when Shirley has a rest, she goes everywhere with Rebecca.

"They are soul-mates, they get on so well."

Shirley has already potentially saved the life of Rebecca, who has a twin brother Joseph, prompting her three or four times a day to check her blood-sugar levels.

Claire gave up her job after Rebecca's diagnosis, making sure she was only seconds away if Rebecca collapsed at school and was taken to hospital.

She applied to Cancer and Bio Detection Dogs after seeing an advertisement in a newspaper and Rebecca was put on a waiting list for 12 months before Shirley arrived eight weeks ago.

She added: "It's incredible how Shirley is trained to do this. We're all so grateful to have her."

Drinkers 'will get stopped'

DRIVERS who are still over the legal alcohol limit the morning after a drinking session have been warned they are never safe from police checks.

Northamptonshire Police stopped almost 30 vehicles on Monday in just over an hour on the A43 road, near the Holcot roundabout, to officially launch their summer campaign of random checks on drivers.

A spokeswoman for Northamptonshire Police said: "The biggest thing is the education message.

"There's this perception that you'll only get stopped at night or certain times of the day.

"That's wrong. The risk of getting stopped is very high as officers carry out these checks often.

"For example, if you happen to have been in a collision, even when it's not your fault, it's standard procedure that you are breathalysed."

Every stopped driver who our sister paper the Chronicle & Echo spoke to on Monday fully supported the 'morning after' checks.

Police breathalysed 27 motorists during the morning rush hour, with nobody over the legal limit and one refusal, figures which officers termed "positive" for road safety.

Reporter Nick Spoor comfortably passes a breathalyser test during the spot checks

They also carried out on-the-spot vehicle checks and one man was fined £60 for not wearing a seatbelt. But even he said he supported the police campaign.

The 70-year-old said: "It's fair enough, I forgot to buckle up and I was pulled over but I know why they are doing it today.

"I don't agree with drinking and driving at all.

"People drink and think they're okay, but these days you have to be 100 per cent in control."

Sgt Nick Gough, of the force's casualty reduction team, said: "It's not just the people we stop, it's the people they talk to at home, at work and who they socialise with.

"It's also the hundreds of drivers who have seen us performing this operation this morning.

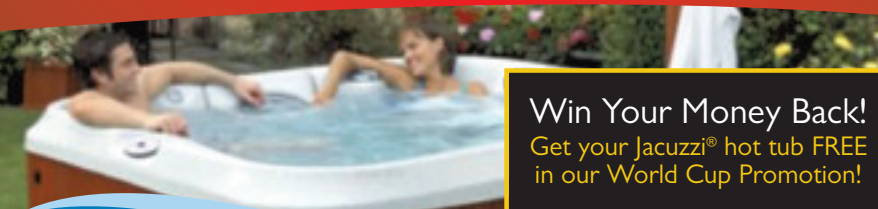

"They all know now they are at risk of being stopped."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough & Corby areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Window Prices*www.onlinewindowquotes.co.uk*Reduce Energy Loss by 90%

You have probably heard that the amount of energy that we waste in our homes is directly linked to climate change. You will have definitely noticed the ever increasing cost of heating your home. But did you know that the type of glass that you use in your windows can help your home be more energy efficient? Using Pilkington EnergiKare you will improve the energy efficiency of your home and save on your heating bills.

Simply using Pilkington EnergiKare as the glazing unit in your windows reduces the amount of energy lost through your windows by up to 90%. Homesure are one of the first Pilkington EnergiKare approved installers and now use this fantastic new glass across our range, ensuring Homesure customers now have the maximum benefit from new windows. For more information, contact us to discuss your requirements.

The pressure is on to improve the energy performance of windows and we are now reaching the stage where mere double glazing will no longer be enough. The rough and ready method of comparing the energy performance of windows is to use the U value measurement, just as we do with walls, floors and roofs.

Traditional windows, with a single pane of glass in them, have a U-value in excess of 5. Double glazing used to score over 3, but, over the years, the manufacturing process has undergone a number of improvements and currently the Building Regulations insist that any window you install today should have a U-value no worse than 1.0.

Heating Cost Savings

of up to £14,500
over 20 years with an Energy Rated Window

These improvements have been brought about by the introduction of water barriers between the two glass panes, low-emissivity coatings being added to the glass to stop heat escaping. The cavity being filled with an inert gas, usually argon and designing out cold bridges, such as aluminium spacers. The question is, does this mean the next step is to move from double to triple glazing? Triple glazing is widely used in cold climate countries like Sweden and Norway.

"When I set up the business, I was determined to provide a warm and welcoming way of doing straight forward business with local people. We set out a few simple guidelines that would ensure that it is always a pleasure to do business with us. No dubious sales techniques! No false promises! and No underhand tactics! Just straight forward great deals, a fantastic product for a fair price. I am proud to say, I believe that the 20 to 25 new customers that choose us every week from Northampton and the surrounding areas, do so because they appreciate the effort, dedication and commitment that all my staff put into making sure everything goes well from initial quotation to installation. I would like to invite you to have a FREE NO OBLIGATION QUOTATION or to visit our QUOTE CLINIC. Bring your window sizes, styles and maybe a photo to us for on the spot advice, design and quotation. You can see for yourself our range of products and finishes and maybe take advantage of our current special offers including our SENIOR CITIZEN DISCOUNT. This makes it easier for you to avoid the minefield of wasted evenings and high pressure sales techniques and why so many people are saying 'we are glad we chose Homesure.'"

Drink yobs to be moved

YOBs who disturb the peace of war veterans at a club near Northampton town centre are to be dispersed with a special police order aimed at tackling their misbehaviour.

The order came into force yesterday for a stretch of Barrack Road near the Campbell Street junction and streets leading off it, following complaints of rowdy drunks and beggars in the area.

Alex Frew, steward of the Royal Navy and Royal Marines Association club in Lorne Road, just off Barrack Road, said: "They start to gather with their cans of drink just across the road at about 10.30pm and it goes on all night.

"There are others on the other side of Barrack Road at the old postal sorting office too.

"When our members go out to have a cigarette or come into the club they are feeling very intimidated.

"Our members are thinking what the hell they were fighting for, to be stood out here having to face all that."

The club has also been defaced as a result of vandals.

Mr Frew said: "But the worst thing is that they use the back of our building as a toilet.

"Everyone should know what the club is and what it represents. To do that sort of thing is really awful."

The dispersal order will be in force for six months, between 9pm and 6am and will give officers the power to move on groups of people gathering in the area.

Tax officials tell mum she is dead

A YOUNG mother has condemned tax officials who sent her family a letter telling them she was dead.

The letter was sent to 22-year-old Tonie Francis's mother from the tax credit office to say they had been informed of her daughter's death and needed to see a copy of her will and details of her next of kin.

The mother of two, who lives in Northampton, said the letter had upset her mum so much it made her ill after she received it in the post last week.

She said: "I've got absolutely no idea why they would do something like this. I've phoned them and left a load of messages, but they've never got back to me.

"But you would think they couldn't just send out letters like that. You'd think they'd have to at least check or something.

"When my mum got the letter, she was crying and in a terrible state. I'd not seen her in a few days, so she didn't know if it was true or not. I think the whole thing is absolutely disgusting."

The letter said the tax office needed information about Miss Francis so they could update their tax credit records.

But when she contacted them they refused to speak to her and informed her that her benefits had been frozen because she was now officially classed as 'deceased'.

She said: "My mum's rung them and they won't say anything to her because they say they can't give out personal information and now all my benefits have been stopped because they say I'm dead.

"I just don't know how I'm going to get any money now. The whole situation is terrible."

A spokesman for HM Revenue and Customs apologised for the letter being sent to Miss Francis, blaming the mistake on a computer error.

He said: "We're very sorry to hear of the problems Miss Francis has had. We apologise to both her and her family for any distress caused by the letter we issued in error."

My Sons
From where I sit and shedding a tear
Wishing somehow that you were near
So I close my eyes and think of you
In just one moment you step into view.
Now you are not here for me to touch
My memories are precious and means so much
I have no doubt you are safe
For you will have gone to a better place.
You will have been welcomed with open arms
All around will be loving and calm.
There is an Haven reserved for you
The reward for the love you both gave to those you knew.
I know someday I will see you again.

Saints stay tight-lipped on Artemiev

SAINTS are refusing to comment on rumours that rapid Russian Vasily Artemiev is set to join the club.

Artemiev was one of the stars of a Russian side that performed surprisingly well in the Churchill Cup, scoring a try in all three of the Bears' games.

And with Russia's head coach Steve Diamond a recruitment consultant for Saints, it seems director of rugby Jim Mallinder could be set to take a punt on the up-and-coming Russian.

Diamond has helped Russia qualify for their first World Cup next year in New Zealand and they surprised everybody with their accomplished backline play in Churchill Cup defeats to USA and England Saxons, before winning their final game against Uruguay.

Artemiev showed his flexibility by playing in each position in the back three during the competition and it is thought he will go into Saints' academy set-up under Dusty Hare first.

The potential signing was leaked by the Sky Sports commentators during the 38-19 win over Uruguay.

When asked about the possible capture, Saints spokesman Chris Wearmouth said: "No comment."

With both Chris Ashton and Ben Foden set to be on England duty during the Autumn and Six Nations after their prominent roles in the second Test win over Australia, Saints are desperately in need of cover in the back three.

Artemiev began his rugby education in Ireland with the Dublin-based Blackrock College, who have produced a prodigious amount of Irish internationals.

The 22-year-old former Russia Sevens captain played for Leinster Schools and Ireland Under-19s before returning to his homeland with VVA Podmoskovye, though he didn't play when the Wanderers took on the Russian champions in April last year.

Meanwhile, Saints star Phil Dowson made his first England start in yesterday's 35-28 defeat against New Zealand Maori.

Winger Chris Ashton also started that game, and scored a try, while Ben Foden and Shane Geraghty made appearances off the bench.

Last Saturday, Ashton, Foden and Courtney Lawes all played key roles as England secured a dramatic 21-20 Test win over Australia to secure a 1-1 draw in the series.

Ashton was again on the mark to score his first Test try, which he dedicated to his father who passed away last month.

It's decision time

TWENTY20 DRAMA - Andrew Hall celebrates dismissing Notts Outlaws dangerman David Hussey during Tuesday's night's dramatic tied match at Trent Bridge. The Steelbacks posted 121 for seven, but then bowled superbly to restrict the home side, Hall running out Graeme White off the final ball of the match to dismiss the Outlaws for 121. The point keeps Northants in the mix for a quarter-final place. They are back in action tomorrow night at Worcestershire Royals, before entertaining Durham at the County Ground on Saturday (start 2.40pm).

THE Cobblers were expecting Abdul Osman and Liam Davis to give them an answer on their contract offers today.

And manager Ian Sampson has confirmed he has made an offer to a striker and spoken to the representatives of 'three or four' other front men.

Sampson confesses he does not know what decisions Osman and Davis will make, but as they are both under 24, any English club who signs them now would have to pay a tribunal-set fee to Town if they are to secure their services.

Manager Ian Sampson has already snapped up Nathaniel Wedderburn from Stoke City to bolster his midfield resources.

But he would like to retain Davis, who brings much-needed pace to the side, and also Osman.

"Both of them are away on holiday at the moment but Abdul was due back yesterday and Liam is still away in Portugal for a while," he said. "We should know by Thursday what's happening with them. I don't know which way it will go."

As it stands, only 17 players are under contract at Sixfields, with that figure including rookie trio Paul Walker, Michael Jacobs and Alex Konstantinou, and the transfer-listed Craig Hinton, Chris McCready and Steven Guinan.

Recruiting a new centre-forward remains a priority for Sampson, but he is confident there will be some movement on that front before the players report back for pre-season training on July 1.

The Town manager has not been surprised by the lack of transfer activity in league two this summer, something he feels is down to a more prudent spending policy.

"Hopefully we can have one or two tied down by July 1 and ideally I'd like to have a forward in by the end of the week," he said. "A striker is a top priority, it's the area we need to strengthen in the most I think. I've made an offer to someone and the only criteria in mind is that they have to be able to score goals."

"If it doesn't come off there are three or four others I've been in contact with that we could go for. I'm not surprised (at the lack of transfer activity), I understand that there are a lot of players out of contract and that they want to hold on and get the best deal."

"The whole country is suffering at the moment and footballers have got to realise there isn't too much money around."
